Subject:
Smart Cities / Littleton's Digital Strategy / IS update

Presented By: Ken Price, Information Services Director

BACKGROUND:

Technological, economic and environmental evolution have generated interest across the country in "Smart Cities", including economic restructuring, adapting to the move to online retail and entertainment, climate change, aging demographics, urban population growth and pressures on public finances. During this study session, staff will present information on the benefits of Smart Cities including:

1. Why would the City of Littleton want to be a Smart City?
2. What is a Smart City?
3. How do we become a "smarter" city?

Staff will also update council on completed smart city initiatives and potential future options.
